BROOK FARM ACADEMY

CLASS OF 2008

Edmond Donnelly

To The Class of 2008:

Congratulations on a job well done. You were faced with two decisions when you first entered high school. The first was to select WRHS and before you knew it you were forced to choose again. You chose Brook Farm Academy.

Over the past four years you have grown and matured into wonderful young adults. You excelled in the classroom and in the boardroom. You accepted the challenges of high stakes exams, rigorous course work, dual enrollment and internships in the private sector ; every opportunity you exceeded expectations and goals.

Visitors from Troy Brown of the Patriots to Peter Lynch of Fidelity marveled at your knowledge of the business principles taught in your classes. Over your Brook Farm Academy years visitors from National Organizations and Institutions of Higher Learning wanted to partner with you because of your seriousness and work ethic.

You should be proud of your accomplishments and you should be secure in the belief that you as graduates of Brook Farm are well prepared to take on the challenges of life after high school. Remember do not be a stranger to the " Hall of Flags" it will always be your home. As always never say "good bye", I say see you down the road.

Sincerely,

Ed Donnelly

That point in time (Moment)
Poetry by Khyle McKelver

I just love that point in time, when the earth stops moving. The days are warm, and the air is soothing. There's something about that point in time, when your mind is clear. Your soul is free, and the world is fair. The people seem believingly human, they greet you with good tidings, its manners they're using. No quarrels, no crying, no perils, nor lying, you look to the sky and the birds are flying. The water is till, and the sky is gray, but you don't expect the rain at all today. Upon this point i rush to my porch, grab hold the banister, I close my eyes, and look. I lift my face, and exhale slowly; I inhale deeply, and take the moment upon me. Oh how I love this point in time. I just love that point in time, when the clock ticks slowly. The hours are mine, to do with how I choose to do. Opportunities abundant, not one, but two, or more if I choose, in this point it's rare to lose, ones look on life, or views of freedom. In fact in this point in time is where you find them. The race is endless, to peace, and serenity, for in this point these liberties fly freely. With every gust of this soothing wind, it's like God washes away our sins. New dreams are purchased, and await the moment in which they can start rolling, like the romantic films in the theatre, this moment is one you savor. If you happen to catch that point in time, clear your mind, and take the time, to think of how this moment comes rarely, you'll enjoy it more.

There are moments in your life that make you...sets the course of who you are in what you are going to be...sometimes there are little subtle moments...sometimes there are big moments that you never saw coming... no one asks for their life to change...but it does...its what you do afterwards that counts...that's when you realize who you really are...

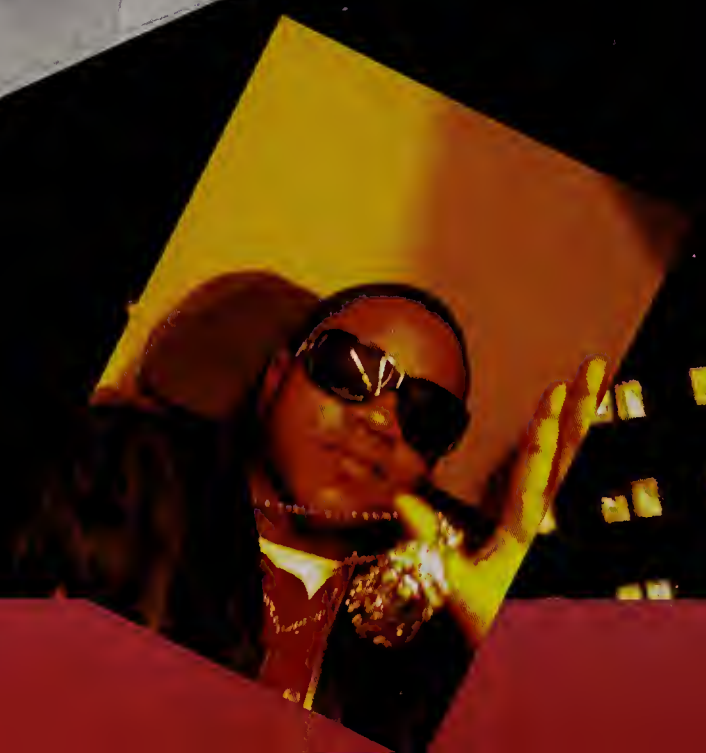
New York Trip



New York Bazaar

During the trip to New York City, the students at BFA bought a variety of items to be sold in school. In school the following week, the students sold their items at a flea market styled Bazaar.

These are some of the students who sold items during the Bazaar. As you can see by the pictures, business is BOOMING!
